Office 365 provides everyone in the service, from the President to our tech experts, with the most popular tools and services a digital lifestyle demands. With the free trial, eligible service members will be able to download Word, Excel, PowerPoint, and OneNote for free for a full month. These products are available for all Windows devices and are automatically managed so members only have to focus on their tasks and keep their data secure. "This new program provides service members with a modern, unified solution for all of their work," said Lt. Gen. Brent Taylor, Chief Information Officer. "It helps simplify their digital and physical workload and take advantage of the latest in tech to solve problems more effectively." Microsoft expects this program to be popular among current and former service members, who use the software for all of their workday and personal tasks. These workers will be able to download their products, use them to complete work assignments, and keep their data secure in the process. "This is a great opportunity for eligible service members to transition to technology that is tailored to their needs," said Major General Terence T. Williams, Commander, U.S. Army Installation Management Command. "There is no doubt that connecting to all of the tools that are at their fingertips will make their day significantly easier." Eligible individuals must do the following: Be a current service member or recent retiree Be at least 18 years old Be stationed in the continental United States, Alaska, Guam, Puerto Rico, or U.S. Virgin Islands Have limited access to a computer or other device Have Internet access to download How to get started: You can only download Office 365 free for one month.
