That is the most common contention among many “health” minded people, and the popular media, who say they need to watch their proteins. To be clear, a high protein diet is NOT one high in animal protein; rather, it is one high in the amino acid protein, which can be obtained from meat, eggs, dairy, and other animal products. A higher protein diet (around 0.8-1.0 gram of protein per kilogram of body weight) promotes muscle protein synthesis, which is the most important anabolic process in our body. However, whether the protein comes from a whole food, or a supplement, the highest quality protein will have a lower Glycemic Index (GI), and have a much better digestion profile than typical western protein powders which are often, and ironically, high in sugar. Fiber is much more easily digested with a higher protein diet. Lastly, a higher protein diet brings an increased enzymatic output in the body. We feel better eating more protein. It is a 595f342e71
