The central observer for Muzaffarnagar Lok Sabha by-polls on Saturday evening handed over an affidavit, verifying the declaration of 8,000 Congress and Rashtriya Lok Dal (RLD) workers, to the returning officer in Shamli district. "This is not to shield the accused but to shield their families. They are our workers. We are with them," Chaturvedi said while addressing a press conference in Aligarh. About 50-60 people were killed in communal clashes on August 25 in Shamli district after Akhlaq's family was accused of eating beef. On September 15, the Congress candidate Ashok Chaturvedi had appeared for a poll booth-level scrutiny and, the next day, told a man to pay him money to save his life. The Congress worker was going to a railway station when he was stopped by a mob of around 50 people and asked why he was sitting in the middle of the road. The man said he was waiting for someone to come from Meerut. "After he said that, a local Muslim man came and said Akhlaq had eaten beef and is giving him death threats," Chaturvedi said. After the man was not found at the railway station, he got into the Congress car. "He was telling me about what happened to him and I could not tell him anything as I was in a meeting," Chaturvedi said, adding that he then advised him to contact his parents and brothers to avoid trouble. "They didn't listen to me and they were beaten up. I asked one of them to get into the Congress car but he told me that they have taken away his car." The same day, the police registered a case against Chaturvedi for inciting communal hatred and his arrest was ordered. "After the incident, I was banned from campaigning by my constituency secretary. I appealed to the chief minister
