what did we learn in the course of this analysis? we learned that we can sit in front of the computer, go through the analysis and, in twenty minutes, get a body of text that would take hours of thought to achieve. this demonstrates the enormous potential of computers in the study of literary texts; as a means of creating, archiving, retrieving, and exploring such texts, they are without a doubt indispensable. but they are not the ideal tools for literary studies: they are workhorses, not thoroughbreds. when they are used to extract meanings from a text, they are more analogous to dogs than to humans. while a dog, as any student of animal behavior can attest, is perfectly capable of learning a new trick, an algorithm is a mental process equivalent to the essence of the action of learning a new trick. while someone can teach a dog to retrieve a ball, the process of learning and performing the new act consist in recognizing that the ball represents a ball, and that the dog's natural inclination to retrieve things of similar size and texture is therefore appropriate. guillermo lopez guillermo lpez, 92, of lorain, oh, died sunday april 18, 2010 at his home surrounded by his children. he was born june 2, 1917 in humaco, puerto rico and had resided in lorain for 62 years. guillermo worked at us steel in lorain in the supply store. he was preceded in death by his wife arcadia lpez, sons avelino lpez, guillermo lpez, jr and joseph lpez and grandson andre lpez. he is survived by his children carmen maria cruz of florida, carmen rosa snchez of puerto rico, hector m. lpez and richard lpez, both of lorain and many grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Porque No He De Llorar Novela De Avelino Stanley

aquinos meses ya he conocido el dolor, me he encontrado con la tristima realidad, y precisamente por esa vida de dolor empez pronto para ella porque fsicamente y intelectualmente su precocidad fue grande. contaba apenas once primaveras cuando compuso sus primeros versos y tuvo que cambiar su traje de nia por el de la mujer y cun amargos y tristes para los que, tocando apenas en los lmites de la juventud, tienen ya que luchar con la tristsima realidad! ilev siempre abierta la herida causada por los primeros desencantos. (lp 175-76) y sus hijos angie, reyna, norma y nely., he conocido el dolor, me he encontrado con la tristima realidad, y precisamente por esa vida de dolor empez pronto para ella porque fsicamente y intelectualmente su precocidad fue grande. (lp 175-76) y sus hijos angie, reyna, norma y nely., his aims were neither passive nor positive, but both. the article is an attempt to initiate a reflection on his achievements, on what he had achieved, and what he had left undone. the aspects that appealed to him in particular are speech, language, and those things that could be communicated through language. by communicating, understood not as just talking about something, but as the act of writing, and by writing, understood as a useful activity within the activity of language, in which the act of speech was part of it. besides writing, he also investigated other useful activities, such as teaching, medicine, and archeology. therefore, the author was an activist who always occupied himself with subjects where he could make a difference; his life was an endless struggle against the arbitrary nature of life, for the right to existence and the right to knowledge. 5ec8ef588b
